

When the street becomes an orchestra.

An elegant conductor takes the stage, full of charm and grand ambitions. With a juggling club as his baton, he sets out to bring order to chaos. But instead of an orchestra, he faces an unpredictable audience.

What follows is a lively street show filled with humour, spectacular juggling and spontaneous encounters. Volunteers become stars, little mishaps become highlights, and the street transforms into an openair "Gran Concerto".

Between classical elegance and urban rhythms, the audience gradually discovers the maestro's true identity. When he finally trades his baton for a microphone, it becomes clear that this symphony has a different ending in store.

An interactive show for all ages, full of comedy, juggling and musical surprises.

Show Trailer

Marc Freudenberg

Marc Zeun, also known as Marc Freudenberg, is a juggler, clown and host. He performs at festivals, in theatres and on streets across Europe, the Americas, Asia and Australia. Combining juggling, comedy and direct audience interaction, he creates unique live experiences for people of all ages.

His training in physical theatre, clowning and mime, together with years of experience as a performer and host, has shaped his distinctive style. In 2019, he cofounded the duo "Roar Circus" with Simon Moreau, delighting international audiences with absurd humour and a remarkable stage presence.

Technical Rider

Show duration:

- Approx. 30 minutes (can be split into shorter sets)

Performance area:

- Minimum space: 5×5m
- Minimum ceiling height: 4m

Setup / packdown time:

- 10min.

Language:

- German/English

Sound:

- 1 wireless headset microphone
- 2 handheld microphones with microphone stands
- PA system suitable for the audience size

(PA can be provided for shows with up to approx. 250 people)

Light:

- No additional lighting required for daytime performances
- Front and back lighting required for evening or indoor shows

Venue:

- Suitable for indoor and outdoor events

Contakt:

- marc@streetsymphony.de
- +49 178 3344224

